I am marching to help injured veterans like Del Sullivan

In 2007, whilst serving in Afghanistan with the Royal Anglian Regiment, Del was involved in an IED explosion. He had to have 30% of his spine removed and three years on he was still unable to walk unassisted - suffering mentally as well as physically.

In 2016 he was introduced to the On Course Foundation and it changed his life.

Within three months he was walking, playing 18 holes of golf and had found a way back to a normal life. Within 16 months he ran the London Marathon and shortly after that he was back to part time work at Barnham Broom Golf Club. This year he has become the club's Assistant Golf Operations Manager on a full-time basis.

"OCF events have given me motivation in life after the end of my military career. I have met so many people in the same situation - some far worse off than me. They have helped me pursue a career in golf and got me back playing the game I love, which I never thought would be possible."

You can do your own March Fore Mulligans
